
PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1888.

2 O'CLOCK

Passing Littlewood at 12.16 P. M. Amid Wild Cheering.

The Englishman Yields First Place with Tears in His Eyes.

SC RE AT 4 P. M.

Hughes		•				80	o	٠.		٧	٠	٠		. (197
Littlewood	٠		٠				ä								192
Herty															190
Golden	·		į	ě.				6				ı,			184
Noremac								i,						40 7	177
Cartwright	Ŷ.					·			١,	ĺ,					179
Guerrero															170
Dillon							6					ĺ.			159
Campana	·		·	,	į.	ķ.					9		i i		158
Vint															150
Saunders			ŀ		ì										151

Only fifteen weary pedestrians were found on the elliptical sawdust track in Madison Square Garden at dawn this morning. Twentynine of the men had given out. Peter Panchot, the Buffalo postman, and Dan Burns, the Elmira man who raced against a series of horses in Chicago in 1884 in a six-day race and beat them, were obliged to JOHN HUGHES. retire on account of physical disablement, and twenty-seven of the peds had withered and died under the 100 miles rule at the end of the first twenty-four hours.

The scores of the men who had dropped out were as follows :

Hendry, 52.7; Coughlan, 60.5; Drake, 45.8; Howard, 57,6; Practer, 74,1; Russell, 58.2; Adams, 64.2: Nolan, 73; Stein, 53.6; Mc-Evoy, 61.6; Kraemer, 49.4; Albertie, 51.1; Kleine, 47; Taylor, 33.4; Duffy, 33.7; Morelander, 26.2; Graves, 25.7; Esterline, 78.2; Connor, 80.6; Burns, 95.7; Newhart, 96.1; Elson, 78.1; Schroeder, 85.4; Williams, 70; Sullivan, 86.1; Peach, 68.4; Tilly, 85.

E. C. Moore, who entered the race as the protege of Jimmy Albert, was obliged to give up at 2.18 o'clock this morning with a score of only 102.4. He had barely covered the necessary 100 miles in the first 24 hours.

Of the fifteen men left to fight it out, George Littlewood, the Sheffield blond, led, his nearest competitor, Lepper Hughes, being ten miles behind him. Between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning Dan

Herty, the Boston persistent, overtook George Cartwright, the other Englishman, and passed him while he slept, taking third

Peter Golden, the one-time favorite amateur of this city, slept from 11 until 3 o'clock, permitting Herty and Cartwright to get ahead of him, but returned to the track fit for a good day's work.

At midnight the record of Charlie Rowell, 150% miles, was still unbroken, Littlewo 150½ miles, was still unbroken, Littlewood having covered only 137 miles.

But this was seven miles better than Albert's score for the first twenty-four hours in the last race, in which he made the six-day record of 621 miles, and eleven miles better than Paddy Fitzgerald in 1884. Hughes also bested those records, scoring 131 miles.

The other leaders stood as follows: Herty, 123.4: Cartwright, 125.1: Noremac, 118.1; Golden, 125.5: Hegelman, 115.3; Hart, 114.7; Gus Guerrero, the California Greaser, covered only four laps over the 100 miles in the 24 hours, and Dan Dillon, who had hoped to win the race, barely squeezed out his 100 miles, while "Old Sport," Peter Napoleon Campana, had worked his ancient limbs for 101 miles.

Campana, and worked his alternal miles.

Tom Cox, the Philadelphian, had covered 105 miles and Sam Day 114.4. Both retired for rest a little later, and when they awakened were very stiff. Day walked three miles further and retired again. Cox got as far as 108 miles 7 laps, and then he, too, went to bed again. Gus Guerrero had two hours of refreshing sleep during the night and resumed his work in a little better form. Just before dawn he took to pestering that mass of stolidity, Jack Hughes, and chased him for a long time, playing on a harmonica as he ran. Some passed a banjo to him and he thumbed a tune passed a banjo to him and he thumbed a tune for a couple of laps. But Lepper Hughes seems to be enthused with some of his old spirit and keeps up a jog trot, deceiving in that it is much faster than it seems to be. Hughes was ten miles behind Littlewood at 7 o'clock, and the Englishman was in a good condition.

How the men worked during the early hours of the second day may be gathered from this table:

		Market Science (No. 10)	6 o'cr		-
Name.	LA.M.	2A. M.	3.A. M.	AA. M.	5A.M.	6.A. M.
3. Lit'lewo'd 2. Hughes 1. Herry 4. Ca'twrig't 10. Golden 5. Hart 6. Guerrero 17. Hosselman	137.0 131.0 123.4 125.1 127.5 1.2.4 118.4 100.4	140.7 131.7 124.4 129.2 127.8 127.8 120.0 102.0	145.6 137.3 187.0 134.2 127.6 127.3 120.0 107.0 116.2	150,0 141,3 133,8 138,2 142,2 128,4 120,0 111,1 118,3	154.0 145.7 136.2 149.5 136.1 182.6 120.0 115.5 119.3	158.5 147.1 141.6 140.6 197. 192.1 120.6
Day	115.8	115.3	117.1	119:1	118 5 117.1	118.5
16. Campana	1 1.0	101.0	108.1	107.7	111.4	115.0

14. Ditlon 16. Campana 21. Vint 20. Cox 11. Moore	1 11.0 10.0 10.0 10.7 100.6	103.8 101.0 105.0 104.7 101.8	108.1 101.5 105.0 18.7 102.4	107.7 107.0 109.2 out.	113.2 111.4 110.7 109.2	117.0 115.0 114.5 109.7
THI	BCOR	FROM	7 A. 3	t. TO 1	2 м.
	TA.M.	8.4 . M.	9.A. M.	10 A M	11 A M	12 M.
Littlewood Hurbss Herry Cartwright Golden Yorsmac Dilan Hegelman Getrero Vut Campana Fattadera Day	163.4 143.2 145.6 145.7 140.7 122.0 12.7 119.3 119.5 117.1	107.4 158.1 151.0 151.0 147. 125.6 31.5 12.7 124.5 12.7	171.7 162.2 165.1 151.3 1.3.0 149.7 125.6 127.3 128.6 127.3 128.6 128.6	174.0 167.5 159.4 157.7 157.4 1.4.8 125.6 125.6 139.2 1.0.4 13.7 129.3	175.7 172.0 164.2 163.1 162.1 137.5 125.6 142.7 135.2 136.7 131.3	179, 2 178, 0 109, 1 166, 2 167, 1 16, 1 141, 0 091, 147, 2 141, 2 141, 2 141, 2

For comparison with the work of the lead ers to day the record in other races may be interesting. For forty-eight hours Charlie Rowell made the record, which has never been heaten, in 1882, covering 258 miles, 1 lap. He had covered 107 miles, 7 laps, in the second twenty-four hours. In the February race Albert covered 108 miles the second day, his score at Tuesday midnight being 238 miles, or twenty miles be-Littlewood must cover 101 miles to-day to ven Albert's work in the last race.

even Albert's work in the last race.

LITLEWOOD LIMPING PAINFULLY.
Littlewood went to his hut soon after 10 o'clock. He had been limping slightly for an hour. His foot was rubbed and bathed, and he took sleen.

During the hour following, while Littlewood slept, the Lepper put in good work, reducing Littlewood's lead to five miles.

Littlewood returned at 10.40. He limped painfully at first, but limbered up and ran again after a few turni of the track.

Sam Day's name was taken down from the score list this morning. At 9 o'clock he came on the track and made a vigorous protest. He then began travelling at a good rate of speed.

Hart and Cox at that hour were out of the Hart and Cox at that hour were out of the race.

Jimmie Albert said this morning: "I believe that my record of 621 miles will be beaten by one of the four leaders, and I hope it will. If it is beaten I shall challenge the winner for the world's championship."

Albert further said that he thought that Hughes was the best man, and talked of a big sweepstakes if his record is broken.

Parson Tilly and Williams returned to the track during the forenoon and started in again, but they were compelled by the judges to retire. Both were well nigh tearful because they could not continue the hopeless struggle.

Despite Albert's prediction that his record struggle.

Despite Albert's prediction that his record is going to be broken in this race, Littlewood was more than four miles behind it at noon. Littlewood's lameness bothered him considerably and his face wore a look of discouragement, and Hughes had been steadily gaining upon him and was only a mile and a half behind him.

Herty's lead of Cartwright was increased two laps between 11 and 12 o'clock, and Pete Herty's lead of Cartwright was increased two laps between 11 and 12 o'clock, and Pete Golden's steady canter was overhauling the Londoner, too.

Peter Hegelman, who has done excellent work as a sprinter, but who failed in the February race, again broke down this morning, and put on his citizen's clothing and left the Garden. He had covered 125% wiles

Sam Day retired for good after a few turns around the ring, leaving the race to eleven around the ring, leaving the race to eleven men.

The record for the thirty-sixth hour is 204 miles 4 laps, and was made by Rowell. Albert's score at this hour was 183 miles 6 laps. It will be seen by the score that Peter Golden put his peg ahead of Cartwright's at noon and led him seven laps.

At noon it was considered almost certain that Hughes would be the leader before night. Littlewood, it was said, has something wrong with his hip, and he would probably be called from the track. This would break his heart, for he had set his mind on beating Cartwright, who is his bitterest enemy. His trainers refused to give any information as regards his condition.

RUGHES TAKES FIRST PLACE.

any information as regards his condition.

RUGHES TARES FIRST PLACE.

The seats began to fill up with spectators after 12 o'clock, and Lepper Hughes was putting in his best work. Every third or fourth lap he would overtake limping Littlewood, and as he passed him the crowd would cover and appland vigorously. It was a race between Ireland and England, and when at 12.16 o'clock Hughes overtook and passed Littlewood in the fourth lap of the 180th mile the crowd fairly went wild with enthusiasm.

This was too much for poor Littlewood, and when the crowd cheered again, on the elevation of Hughes's score over that of the Englishman on the big blackboard, and the band struck up. 'St. Patrick's Day, 'it broke his British heart, and he went to his hut, tears gleaming in his honest eyes.

Then Hughes ran a straight mile in nine minutes, to the music of 'Wearing of the Green.' Cartwright stopped to look at the score, and then a grim smile spread over his face at the discomfiture of his hated rival.

Those who know or who think that the

Those who know or who think that they ought to know from long experience in "following the races" say that the two English visitors, Littlewood and Cartwright, English visitors, Littlewood and Cartwright, are out of the race, and that it lies between Hughes, Herty and Golden.

Of these Herty is the most promising, although Hughes is in good condition, except for weariness. Golden has never recorded a high figure at the finish in a race of this kind, but is in high feather, and laughs as he runs a mile first one way and then the other way first one way and then the other way around the ellipse around the ellipse.

Littlewood's lameness bothered him a good deal and he was on and off the track all day, being only a few minutes at a time in either place.

Meantime Herty reduced the gap between Meantime Herty reduced the gap between himself and the Englishman and gained two laps in the noon hour on Hughes.

The score at 1 P. M. was as follows: Hughes, 183.1: Littlewcod, 180.3: Herty, 174.5: Golden, 171: Cartwright, 168.7; Noremac, 167.7: Guerrero, 151.6; Campana, 145.2; Dillon, 144.2; Vint, 142.4; Saunders, 140.

Littlewcod's backer, Frank Dale, of Philadelphia, is not discouraged by the breaking down of his man, He has telegraphed a Philadelphia physician, and he says that if he can get Littlewcod in shape he will make ne can get Littlewood in shape he will make the can get lattlewood in shape he will make it warm for the rest, even though they get forty miles the lead. He says that Littlewood's right thigh is in bad shape, but he still has confidence in his powers.

Noremac passed Cartwright at 1.40 o'clock this afternoon.

this afternoon.

After a thorough rubbing Littlewood' resumed his old rate, although he limped slightly and winced as he trod on his lame leg. He was five miles in the rear of Hughes, but prevented the Lepper from increasing this lead.

Dan Herty dogs Littlewood's steps with Dan Herty dogs Littlewood's steps with persistency, and the Englishman is unable to shake him off. The race is growing interesting in consequence.

At 3 p. m. the score was as follows: Hughes, 192.2: Littlewood, 187.2; Herty, 184.4; Golden, 180: Noremac, 175: Cartwright, 174.5; Guerrero, 164.3; Dillon, 155.1; Campana, 154; Vint, 147.6; Saunders, 148.

How the Everests Escaped the Penitentiary. BUFFALO, May 8.—The Standard Oil conspirators have escaped the penitentiary, but by a very close shave. Judge Haight said to-day in sentencing Hiram B. Everest and his son Charles, of Roch Hiram B. Evereat and his son Charles, of Roches: er, after conviction of conspiracy to destroy the Buffalo Lunricating Oil Company and blow up their works, that only the fact that civil soils for large damages had been begun, he would send the prisoner to the penticalitary. A fundamental principle of law is that a person cannot be twice punished for the same offense, and it was the duty of the criminal courtrativer than the civil to prevent the couble punishment. He then semenced the President and wice-President of the Rochester Vacuum Oil Works to pay a fine of $250 each.

Mr. Queckberner Not Put Out. C. A. J. Queckberner denies totally the story that he is at all put out by the preference given to the Canadian shot-putter, Grey, in the New York Athletic Club's Enclish team. Mr. Queckberner asys Mr. Grey's qualifications entitic him to a place in the teams. In It Ex-Register Reilly ? Rumor said this afternoon that Mayor Hewitt would appoint ex-Register John Reilly to succeed Gen. Fits John Porter as Police Commissioner. The Mayor said he had made no appointment, and when he did make one he would announce it.

The Brewers Oulet, But Determined. The locked-out brewery workmen met as usual this morning in Clarendon Hail.

No further detections were reported to-day, and those at the meeting expressed a determination to stock to the end.

SOLD LIKE LITTLE SLAVES.

THE PRICE FOR CHILDREN IS $10 AT MRS. RITSCH'S.

No Account Taken of Age, Sex or Condition-The Money, Mrs. Ritsch Says, Is Not for the Children, but Simply for Her Trouble in Taking Care of Them-The Infants Appear to Receive Good Care.

With the idea of learning more regarding the adoption of infants, an Evening World reporter visited the house of Mrs. Ritsch, 274 East Tenth street, who has advertised extensively regarding babies for adoption.

The room into which the visitor was shown adjoined the kitchen, the heat from which was almost intolerable, making the atmosphere close and probably unwholesome.

large crib, dreamingly unconscious of their future lot, stray waifs to be launched upon the great sea of the metropolis.

Mrs. Ritsch made her appearance from an inner room, an elderly German woman, with great black eyes and raven hair, streaked with gray.

After a little explanatory conversation she

Two infants were reposing peacefully in a retired to the inner room, reappearing shortly with a babe in her arms, which, as she in-formed the reporter in broken English, was a girl that had been born last Friday, and the mother—a married woman—was still under her care, Mrs. Ritsch being a midwife by oc-her care, Mrs. Ritsch being a midwife by occupation.

All efforts to find out why a mother should consent to part with her child a few days after birth being unavailing, the reporter turned his attention to the infants in the crib, which were also girl bables.

These were aged two and three weeks respectively. The elder one, which had by this time awakened, proved to be an unusually bright child, with black hair and eyes, and a swarthy complexion that suggested Spanish or Italian parents.

This idea was quickly dispelled, however, by Mrs. Ritsch presenting the mother of the child, a buxom German woman, the image of the infant in the crib, and who, despite the additional information that she was un-the additional information that she was un-married, bore this and the contemplated pur-chasing of her child with stoic indifference. Rather than disturb the remaining infant Rather than disturb the remaining infant from its slumber, the reporter contented himself with a cursory glance, which revealed the fact that should it live to be a woman, the red-haired gir, and white horse theory will have another subject for comparison.

Regarding the terms, they were of a uniform rate. The price for each was $10, without regard for age, sex or condition. This money, as Mrs. Ritsch explained, was not intended as purchase money for the child, but merely to pay her for her trouble in taking care of them from the time of their birth until they are adopted.

Intil they are adopted.

A peculiar feature of this nursery was that there were no male infants to be disposed of, but Mrs. Ritsch said that in the course of a few weeks there might be one come into her possession that would answer the reporter's possession that would answer the reporter's requirements.

With the possible exception of the closeness of the room the house was fairly tidy. The infants apparently receive the best of attention. They are all healthy looking. In this case the parents seem to be of the poorer class, the residence of Mrs. Ritsch being in thickly sattled tenement, house district.

class, the residence of Mrs. Ritsch being in a thickly settled tenement-house district. The babes are all of German parentage, and respectability is essential to the reception of a child. The mother is compelled to give a written document surrendering all interest in the child, which document is in turn de-livered to the person adopting the infant, so that there can be no future claim of parent-

WOMEN EXCLUDED THIS YEAR.

The Question of Their Eligibility Referred to the Methodist Annual Conferences.

The woman question was argued at some length at the General Methodist Conference in the Metropolitan Opera-House yesterday. The Rev. H. H. Moore, of the Erie Conference, made a strong plea in favor of admitting women to the General Conference admitting women to the General Conference.

The Rev. J. T. Edwards, of Detroit, and Judge S. N. Taylor, of St. Louis, spoke against the admission of women. The Rev.
Dr. T. H. Bayliss, of Cincinnati, argued the the General Conference had a perfect right to pass upon the question.

When the debate on the eligibility of

When the debate on the eligibility of women as lay delegates to the Methodist Episcopal General Conference closed to-day a vote was taken upon the adoption of the substitute offered by Rev. David H. Moore of Denver, proposing to seat the women elected as lay delegates and then refer the matter to the churches and annual conferences to determine whether women should be eligible to future General conferences.

This ambetitute was lost.

be eligible to future General conferences.

This substitute was lost.

A vote was taken then upon the amendment to the report offered by Rev. Dr.

Neeley, of Philadelphia. This amendment excludes women from the present General Conference and refers the question of their eligibility as delegates to future General conferences to the Annual conferences.

It was adopted by a vote of 249 yeas to 173 navs.

It was adopted by a vote of 249 yeas to 173 nays.

This morning the Rev. Dr. Buckley offered a resolution to pay the expenses of the women who were excluded. A delegate moved to pay also the expense of Mrs. Stone, a reserve delegate from Bombay. The subject was then laid on the table.

A hard struggle then began on the question of admitting as delegates John M. Phillips, of the Mexico conference, and Robert E. Patterson, of the North India conference.

A SOLDIER KILLS HIMSELF.

Suicide of George Dobyne at Fort Hamilton This Morning.

George Dobyne, a soldier in Battery F at Fort Hamilton, shot himself in the breast this morning, killing bimself instantly.

The $41,000 Not Found Yet.

That $41,000 package belonging to the American Exchange National Bank is still among the things Exchange National Bank is still among the things that make up the varied list of mysterious disappearances. At the tank this morning an Evening World Preporter was assured that absolutely nothing new had been developed. At the Adams Express Company's office there was nothing to say, either old or new. Robert A. Pinkerton has taken personal charge of the detective work on the case from his office. He was not to be seen this morning, and an employee said he had spent scarcely ten minutes in the office since his return from Washington vesterday. Washington yesterday.

New York Markets.

New York Markets.

Wheat, June options opened at last night's closing quotations—95%. Market quiet and quotations unchanged up to noon.

Corron.—Futur-s op ned about 4 points down on early menths and 2 points down on latt months.

May, 9.88; June, 9.96; July, 10.46; Aug., 10.12; Sept. 9.74; Oct., 9.42; Nov., 9.34; Juc., 9.35; Jan., 3.43; Feb., 9.31. Market steady. Liverpool quiet but steady.

Copper.—Market opened about 5 points down, as follows: May, none; June, 11.66; July, 10.96; Aug., 10.85; Sept., 9.95; Oct., 9.85; Nov., 9.85; Dec., 9.90; Jun., 9.85; Feb., none; March, April, 9.90; Market quiet. Hamburg quiet. Havre barely stready. Rivally.

PETROLEUM.—Pipe Line certificates opened at selection.—Its above that night's closing quotation. Market quiet.

ONLY THE TOP TIER TO FILL.

A Man from Chicago Accepted as a Juror to Try Kerr.

After five and one-half hours of exhaustive effort yesterday one man was secured who was competent to serve as a juror on the trial of Thomas B. Kerr for bribery in the Court of Over and Terminer. His opinions were innocuous and be had no horror of informers. He is Eugene D. Klein, a cigar maker, of 420 East Fifty-ninth street, and after be had taken the eighth seat there remained but the top tier in the box to be filled.

The work of the Court was begun this had taken the eighth seat there remained but the top tier in the box to be filled.

The work of the Court was begun this morning by calling the fourth hundred talesmen summoned, when Mr. Semple resumed his attempt to qualify a few jurors, but his effort was rewarded with little success until Harry A. Fitzgerald, the sixteenth to take the stand, was examined. He is a young man, with a small blend mustache and weak eyes hidden behind a pair of eye-glasses. He is a dealer in carpets at 86 Worth street and lives at 154 West Fiftieth street.

Mr. Fitzgerald couldn't remember that he had read of the action of the Board of Aldermen of 1884 in granting the Breadway Railroad franchise. He had a dim recollection that there had been a legislative investigation to discover some crooked business. He had never read reports of any of the Aldermanic trials and only a short account of that of Jacob Sharp. The reason for this was that he had been in Chicago most of the time.

Mr. Fitzgerald was positive that he had no opinion and was possessed of only a natural prejudice against an informing accomplice. He was acceptable to Congressman Cockran and was conducted to seat No. 9.

Annong the visitors to the court-room today were Richard S. Newcombe ex-Alder.

Among the visitors to the court-room to-day were Richard S. Newcombe, ex-Alder-man Jachne's counsel, and ex-Judge Fuller-ton, of counsel for the defense on the trial of Jacob Sharp.

SANK IN HALF AN HOUR.

The Morgan Liner Eureka's Crew Saved by a Brig After the Collision.

The Morgan line steamship, Eureka, which was struck on her side just abaft the bridge by the British steamship Benison, sixty miles northeast of Cape Henry last Sunday, sank half an hour after the collision.

The Eureka's crew were taken off by the brig Caroline Gray and transferred to the steamship Dessong, which runs between Savannah and Philadelphia. They were taken to Philadelphia, and will come on to

New York to morrow.

The Eureka carried seven-eighths of a cargo, which, of course, was an entire loss. Agent Van Sickle did not know how much insurance the Eureka carried or what measure the Morgan line would pursue in regard to the Benison.

On the Eureka were Capt. R. B. Quick, First Officer Baker, Chief Engineer Ritchie, Steward Jordan and thirty-eight men. None are reported hurt or lost.

LAWYER WORK'S OBSERVATIONS.

Mrs. Stewart Sald Nothing to Him About the Changes in Her Will. The examination of Lawver James Henry

Work was continued when the hearing in the Work was continued when the hearing in the Stewart will contest was resumed before Surrogate Ransom to-day.

He testified that Mrs. Stewart said nothing to him to explain the changes she had made in her testamentary dispositions. He saw nothing which indicated that she was subject to continual restraint.

He did not remember that she said anything concerning the Cathedral or the Woman's Hotel on the occasion of signing

Woman's Hotel on the occasion of signing the first and second codicils.

Racing at Clifton.

ı	The entries for the Clifton races to-morrow are as follows:
	First Race.—Purss $200, of which $50 to the second, for three-year-olds, selling allowances; horses entered to be sold for $2,500 to carry full weight; three-quar-
۱	ters of a mile.
	Manhettan 107 St. Clair 102 Courtler 103 Eoilte 101 Meiodrama 106 Eoilte 101 Meiodrama 106 Lemon 100 Fountain 108 Spring Eagle 108 Spring Eagle 108 Spring Eagle 108 Spring Eagle 109 Spring Eagle
١	weight; five furlongs.
١	Description

Third Hace.—Purse $200, of which $30 to the second, for all ages: selling allowances; horses entered not to sold to carry full weight; six and a haif furionge.
Raymond 118 Pilot 110
Lancaster. 112 Garnet 96 Niver Star. 106 Trueborn 95 Glenbrook 104 Bright Eyes 95 Jos Mitchell 103 Sweety 95 Krnest 100 Pgaro 92 Windsail 99 Fith Race-Purss $200, of which $50 to the second, for four-y-er oles and upward that have run and not wen at the Clifton agring meeting in 1888; selling allow- ances; three-quarters of a mile. Lb. Commander 108 John Kyle 104 Geo. Augus 108 Atom 192

108 Peacock 108 Lizzie M. 108 Compensate 184 Pat Daly... rand Duke. Jane (imp.)... Talked of by Workingmen. The Baker Wagon Drivers' Union will send del ates to the Central Labor Union.

The locked-out brewers have their morrow evening in Cooper Union Hall. The Buffalo Central Labor Union is engaged or cotting the boss brewers of that city. The workingmen opposed to the Mills bill meet this evening to Cooper Union Hall. Edward King lectures to-night at 146 Forsyth treet on the "Developments of the Boycott in America. "

Commissioner Donovan is endeavoring to settle the strike of the building trades men on the Hedden's bons' jobs.
The strotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners claims that it has advanced the wages of its mem-that it has advanced the wages of its members in 179 cities.

The Progressive Tailors' Union is again agitating the aboitton of the control tenement-house system of manufacturing garments.

Local assembles of Kuights of Labor are already by a polyty to size delegates (7) he Course Assembles. neg naing to elect delegates to the General Assem bly, which mets in Indianapolis next October. McCoy's large cigar manufactory has been shut down, and 250 hands are out of employment. Dul-trade is the cause. It will remain closed indefinitely.

Some of the boss brewers deny that their association intends to arrest any of the officers of the Central Labor Union. Their counsel certainly said it was the intention to indict the executive officers of the union.

At the meeting of the Board of Walking Delegates of the Buding Traces vesters as a committee.

The convention of International District Assem-The convention of international District Assembly No. 226, of street railway employees, at Milliary Hall, 183 Bowery, occupied this morning in discussing reports of the Law Committee, the Committee, the Committee on Resolutions and some minor affairs. The sessions will continue to-day and to-morrow.

sessions will continue to-day and to-morrow.

New York and Brooklyn delegates to the United Labor party conference at Cincinnati May 15, met in Cooper Union last evening to arrange for the trip. They will leave this cluy on Sanday. The New York delegation includes Dr. Mediyan, Jonn
McMackin, T. J. Ford, C. F. J. Boody, W. F.
Price. Channey Barnes and others. Gaybert
Bernes is in the Brooklyn delegation. Congressions smith, of Milwankee, is their choice for President if it is decided to run a candidate.

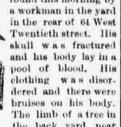

Broker Nathaniel W. T. Hatch Found Dead in a Yard.

He Accompanied Mrs. C. W. Scofield Home Last Night.

Her Husband Was There and Hatch Locked Himself in a Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Scofield Placed Under Arrest.

The dead body of Nathaniel W. T. Hatch. banker and broker at 14 Nassau street, was found this morning by

The limb of a tree is c. w. scoffer.b. the back yard, near which the body lay, was broken.

The story of how he came to his death one which has often been told, and in the relations of the dead man with Mrs. Lillian Scofield, a richly dressed and handsome woman of about thirty years, there was enough to suggest a suspicion of a murder actuated by jealousy. Mrs. Scofield was taken to the West Thir.

tieth street police station soon after the discovery of the body. She and her husband, Charles W. Scofield, live at the address given. Capt. Reilly set an investigation on foot at once, and his detectives found that Mrs. Scorant in West Twenty-seventh street, a place known as Mme. Fanny's, It was within half an hour of midnight when they left the restaurant, and Mr. Hatch accompanied her home. Arriving there, she field dined with Hatch last night at a restauinvited him in. After they had been together about ten ninutes Mr. Scofield came in, and his suspicions were at once aroused in regard to Mr. Hatch. The latter was hastily concealed in a room on the second floor, and Mrs. Scofield turned to meet her husband.

Scofield's jealousy was raised to a hot pitch and he questioned his wife in a most violent way concerning the man who had been with her. She steadfastly refused to give the man's name and insisted that he had left the house.

MRS. SCOFFELD

There then, according to the police, ensued a lively quarrel between husband and wife, which only ended when Scoffeld left the house.

As to what happened after Scofield left his wife the police could obtain no satisfactory information. They suspected that he met Mr. Hatch and engaged him in a furious encounter, which ended in the broker being thrown from the rear window of the second floor Capt, Reilly decided to detain both the Scofields, and they were placed under arrest.

berger, giving evidence of no agitation. berger, giving evidence of no agitation.
She said she saw nothing of the broker or of what happened in the yard until the body was discovered by the workmen.

The husband, Charles W. Scofield, was also aken to the station-house. He was formerly broker and in good circumstances. He has been away from home for a considerable He told the police that he had had cause on several occasions to doubt his wife's fidelity.

An Evening World reporter saw Mrs. Scofield later at the West Thirtieth street station. She is a handsome woman of between thirty and thirty-five years; a brunctic, with a rich, clear complexion and fine dark brown eyes. Her dress was tasteful, and she wore eyes. Her dress was tasteful, and she wore fine but unostentations jewelry. She said she was anxious to clear herself of the charge on which she was detained, and in a quiet and composed manner told the following story:

"My name is Lillian E. Scofield and I am the wife of Charles W. Scofield. My hus-band has been out of business for some time, but I believe he is now connected with some electric lighting company. "Up to May I we lived in East Thirty-fourth street, but we then moved to 64 West Twentieth street, the house where this unfortunate affair happened.

"The house needed thorough repair when we moved in, and the plasterers, painters and paperhangers took possession along with us.
"The only rooms we could have for our own use were the back parior, in which my husfortunate affair happened.

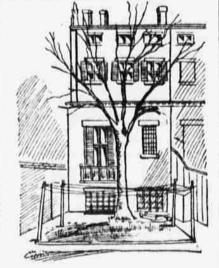

which was nine.

'I have independent means of my own, and have for years carried on small speculations in stocks, I have regular accounts with I. & S. Wormser, W. T. Hatch & Sons and other firms."
Mrs. Scofield here handed to the reporter

Mrs. Scofield here handed to the reporter daily and weekly reports of those firms, showing stock transactions to the amount of more than $30,000. They were mostly in Missouri, Kansas and Texas bonds, Canada Pac fic, Reading and Louisville and Nashville.

Mr. Scofield continued: "I have known Mr. Nathaniel W. T. Hatch and his father, Mr. walter T. Hatch, for over three years, Mr. W. T. Hatch introduced me to his son.

Mr. W. T. Hatch introduced me to his son,
"Yesterday noon I went downtown to give orders about some stock transactions. I first went to I. & S. Wormser's and then to Hatch & Sons' office. When I had done my business I said I was going to take lunch at the Hoffman restaurant, corner of New and Beaver streets, and Mr. Nathaniel Hatch walked down Broad street with me.

REAR OF HOUSE WHERE HATCH WAS FOUND

"I told him I was going to pass an hour or two at the office of my brother-in-law, D. C. Ferris, a broker at 55 Broadway.

"Mr. Hatch came to my brother-in-law's office at about 4 o'clock and we waited there till about 6. Then we went uptown. Mr. Ferris was not able to come for a few min-utes and we promised to meet him at O'Neill's ovster home. Eventy wend streat and Sixth utes and we promised to merthim at O'Neill's oyster house. Twenty-second street and Sixth avenue, at 6, 30. He got there before us, but I said I did not want to dine at O'Neill's and proposed that we go to Mme. Fanny's French restaurant on West Twenty-seventh street.

"All three of us went there, but my brother in-law only stayed long enough to drink a glass of wine and to take some soup. Then he left us.

"We had several bottles of wine at dinner. We sat a long time after dinner was

ner. We sat a long time after dinner was over, chatting with Mme. Fanny, and it must have been 11.30 or 12 o'clock when we, left. We were the last persons in the restaurant.

"Mr. Hatch accompanied me home, and I invited him to see the house. I lighted the gas in the hallway and on the second floor, and showed him what a nice place it would also workmen got through. There be when the workmen got through. There was so much dust and dirt that I felt thirsty, and I seked Mr. Hatch to get me a glass of water.

"I was then in my own room on the second floor. He went into the bathroom on the same floor to get the water. "Just then I heard the front door open. I looked over the baluster and said to Mr.

"There's some one in the house."
"Then I went downstairs and saw it was Then I went downstairs and saw it was my husband.

"He said: 'I heard voices, who is it?'

"I said: 'Never mind, you don't want to see them. It's some one on business.'

"I persuaded Mr. Scofield to go into his self in.

"I stooped to the keyhole and said: 'Mr. Hatch, Mr. Scofield has gone; please open the door. It's all right.' I called out many times, but there was no answer.

"I thought he must have gone into one of the closets in my room, so I went along the hallway and knocked on the wall.

"I got matches and lit them near the keyhole, so that he could see I was alone.

"But I could get no answer, so I tried to burst in the door. It was a task beyond my strength so I went out to get a policeman to help me. Mr. Scofield was then sitting on a stoop several doors distant.

"The officer burst open the door of the bathroom, but I could see no trace of Mr. Hatch, I went through the two rooms and the extension which connects with the bathroom, but still I could see no one.

"All the windows on the floor had been open all day, and they were still open. I looked into the closets and then went to the front window. It opens on the top of the bay window of the parlor, and seeing how easy it was for any one to descend to the street by window of the parlor, and seeing how easy it was for any one to descend to the street by this window, I thought Mr. Hatch had done so. I made no further search, and in a short time went to bed.

"My husband did not return to the house till 6.30. I did not hear of Mr. Hatch's death until 8 o'clock, when the painters told me they had found his body in the yard.

"I account for his death in this way. Mr.

I account for his death in this way: Mr. Mrs. Scofield was pale, but told her story with the utmost calmness to Sergt. Schmittwith the utmost calmness to Sergt. Schmittman came to break in the door he must have ground. But he must have missed his hold and fallen on his head."

Mrs. Scofield declared that her relations with Mr. Hatch were not of an improper character. She knew he was a married men with a family, but he was a pleasant companion and she felt on friendly terms with him.

him.

She said she was sure Mr. Scofield had no encounter with Mr. Hatch. Mr. Scofield was a very mild-mannered man, and he knew Bartholdi's Great Work.

Bartholdi's Great Work.

The statue of Liverty enlightening the world, which stands on Besidoe's lelind, in the harbor of New York, is one of the most sublime artistic conceptions of modern times. The torea of the godices lights the nations of the earth to peace, prosperity and progress through Liberty. But "liberty" is an empty word to the thousands of poor women ensired by paysical aliments a hundred fold more tyraunical than any N ro. To such sufferers Dis. Pickice's Favority Presentation Bolis forth the promise of a sheety circ. It is a specific in all those deringements, irregularities and weaknesses which make life a burien to so many women. The only medicine soil by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. See guarantee printed on wrapper inclosing bottle.

____ Pictures of the rulers, flags and costs-of-arms of all nations packed with Honner "Love Cur," the best five-cent tobacco.

O'CLOCK

PRICE ONE CENT.

he must not interfere with.

After viewing the body Deputy Coroner Scholer gave permission for its removal to 38 West Fifty-third street. It was taken there at 11 o'clock. In a formal statement to Coroner Levy Mr.

Scofield said he was forty-eight years of age, and was until lately President of the Montgomery and Alabama Railroad Company. As to the occurrence of last night he said:

I got home at about 10 r. M. I could not get into my sl-epi g apartment, so I went into the back parlor and lay on the sons. I felt asleep.

At about I o'clock some voices awoke me. I listened a moment and recognized Mr. Hatch's voice talking to my wife. I sat down in the front parlor.

At about I o'clock some voices awoke me. I listened a moment and recognized Mr. Hatch's voice talking to my wife. I sat down in the front parlor.

In about half an hour my wife came down and said she had compiny. I said I would leave, and she said. "All right; go." I went to go ansiget my coat, but my wife objected. She said I could not sleep in the house that hight.

I said: "All right, I'il go." I said I would return for my things in the morning.

I left the house and remained on the stoop of the adjoining house. It was then about 5 o'clock. I kept comrany with the policeman on the beat illi about 5 o'clock. About 6.30 a. M. I went to the house to get my coat.

Mrs. Scofield came from the parlor. I said: "I want to get my things." She replied "Don't be foolish," and urged me to remain and get some sleep. I fin illy consented. I undressed and by down and fell asleep, as I was worn out. About 7.45 a. M. my wife woke me and said Mr. Hatch lay dead in the yard.

I have met Mr. Hatch in my spartments occasionally, but I did not see him last night.

On the statements made by the Scofields, Coroner Levy decided not to keep them in prison. He paroled Mrs. Scofield in the custody of her counsel, Jerome Buck, and allowed Mr. Scofield to go on his own recognizances to appear at the inquest.

Mine. Fanny Berliner, who keeps the restaurant, said to Title Evening World for reporter: "Mrs. Scofield came here last night at about 8.30 o'cl. ck. She was excorted by a man about thirty years old whom I did not recognize as ever having been here before. They stayed here until about 11.30. They dined, chatted and drank one bottle of champagne. Neither appeared to be intoxicated. Mrs. Scofield came here once before with an elderly man. That's all I know about the case."

FRONT OF 64 WEST TWENTIETH STREET.

"He said: 'I heard voices, who is it?'

"I said: 'Never mind, you don't want to see them. It's some one on business.'

"I persuaded Mr. Scofield to go into his own room to avoid explanations.

"I stayed with my husband in the back parlor some minutes and engaged him in conversation. I thought that meanwhile Mr. Hatch would leave the house.

"At about 1 o'clock my husband walked out of his bedroom and sat on the front stoop. I saw that he did not intend to enter the house for some time, so I went upstairs.

"I found that all the doors on the second floor were locked. I concluded that Mr. Hatch had got frightened and locked himself in.

"I stooped to the keyhole and said: 'Mr. Hatch, Mr. Scofield has gone; please open the door. It's all right.' I called out many times, but there was no answer.

"I thought he must have gone into one of the closets in my room, so I want along the dows.

It is not known whether the branch was broken by Mr. Hatch seizing it to aid his descent, or whether it was snapped by the weight of his body as he fell from the windows. dow.

Mr. Hatch was a member of the firm of Walter T. Hatch & Sons, bankers and brokers at 14 Nassan street, and was the eldest son of the senior member of the firm. He was forty-three years old, and lived with his wife in a handsome and well-furnished bouse at 36 West Fifty-third street. Until a few years ago he resided in Brooklyn, where his wife was one of the most prominent ladies in society on the Heights.

His father, Walter T. Hatch, lives at 124 Remsen street. His brothers are Henry P. Hatch, who made some reputation as an ameter actor, and Arthur M. Hatch, who is well known in Brooklyn society.

Mr. Nathaniel Hatch was a member of the Stock Exchange and usually went there in Stock Exchange and usually went there in the morning when he came downtown. He was a quiet, shrewd business man, and atten-tive to his duties.

Tried to Choke Himself. John Enwright, a carpenter, will have to be examined as to bis mental attributes. He tried to commit suicide last night by choking himself with a string. He said that he wanted to kill himself. astring. He said that he wanted to kill himself.
Justice Patterson 'o-day transferred him to the care of the city physicians.

$570,000 for the Canals. ALBANY, May 8 -The Assembly to-day passed the bill appropriating $570,000 for the canals by a vote of $1 to 24. It now goes to the Governor.

The Weather To-Day.

Indicated by Blakely's tele-thermometer

Piper-Heidsleck Sec. Intensely dry. For sale everywhere. 's'